Dwayne Fields was born in Jamaica. When he was six years old, he moved to London, where he grew up.

Dwayne loved nature when he was little.
In Jamaica he played outside in the forests and hills.

When he came to London, life was harder and very busy. But he still dreamed about exploring the world.

As Dwayne got older, he had some scary and difficult times.
He was even hurt by knife and gun crime when he was growing up.

One day, Dwayne decided he wanted to change his life. He wanted to do something amazing.

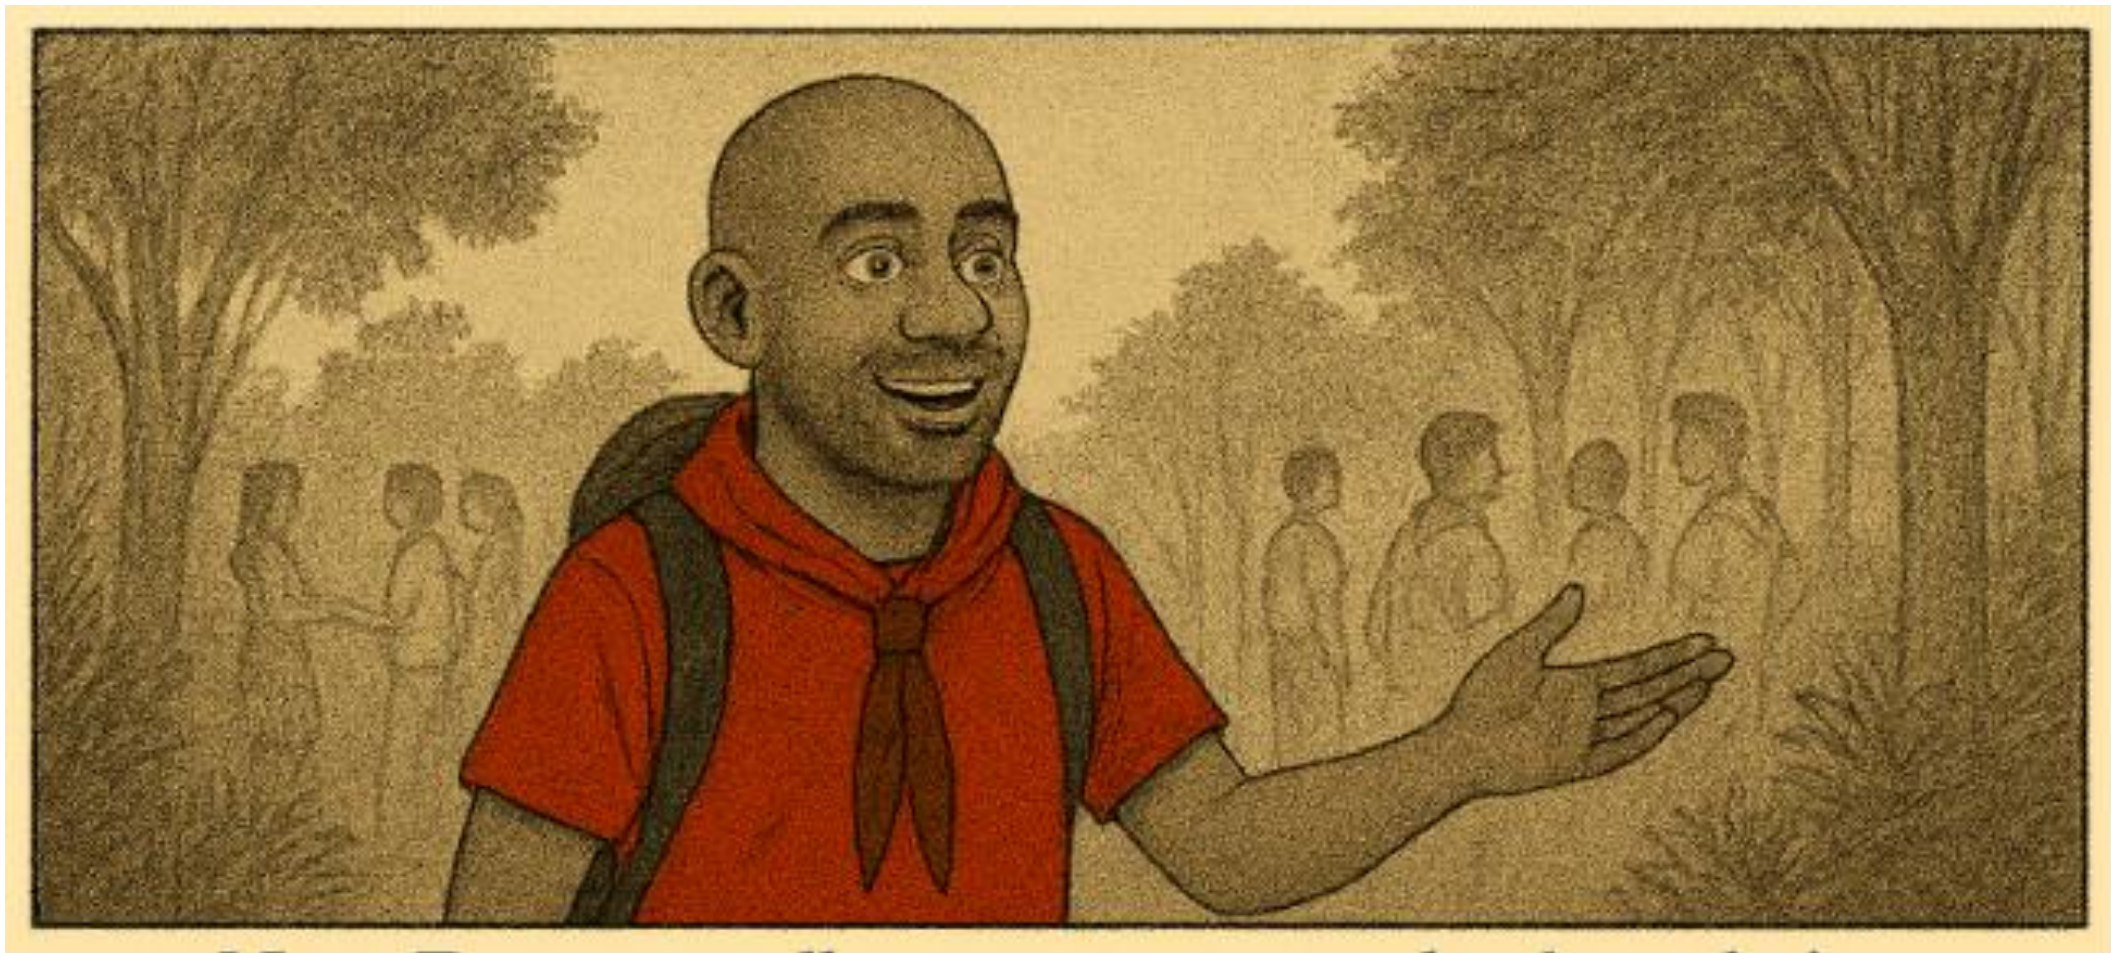

Dwayne chose a big goal: he wanted to walk to the Magnetic North Pole. In 2010, he did it! He walked over 400 nautical miles across the ice and became the first Black Briton to reach the Magnetic North Pole.

The walk was very cold and very long. The ice could crack. Temperatures could fall as low as -50°C , and he even saw a polar bear on his journey.

When Dwayne came home, the Queen invited him to Buckingham Palace to celebrate what he had done.

Now Dwayne talks to young people about being brave, believing in yourself, and not giving up. He helps young people go on adventures, works on TV and podcasts, and in 2024 he became the Chief Scout of the UK.

Dwayne Fields grew up in Jamaica and London, and even though life wasn't always easy, he never stopped loving nature or dreaming big. He went on to walk over 400 miles to the Magnetic North Pole, becoming the first Black Briton to reach it. Today, Dwayne inspires young people to be brave, believe in themselves, and try new adventures, and in 2024 he became the UK's Chief Scout.
